Round 5 at Grande Vista

It was our first time visiting Grande Vista, and the course was everything we hoped for. An executive style course with shorter hole distances. Definitely proved to add some new challenges for our players. Add to that we played in pairs rather than foursomes and it made for a fun Saturday afternoon. Mike S. and Chuck were our top team winners and since they left early we didn't get a picture. Chuck K. was our closest to the pin winner! Top notes for the day: Eddie's fantastic tee shot on #3 and Jeff N.'s shot hit the 100 yard marker. Dave sank a few 10 foot putts to save par, Hilda made par on #6 all by herself and Cecil's chip shot to #9 was something we ALL enjoyed.

Up next we have an adaptive golf clinic before our next round. Jeff Turner, the Duran Golf Club PGA Professional, will be hosting this exclusive golf clinic for us! Jeff is certified in teaching adaptive golf and previously hosted 2-3 clinics for veterans at his last club. He's very excited to be helping and connecting with us this Saturday. So, please be sure to share this information with others and RSVP for Round 6 on April 15th at Duran!

PERFORMANCE ZONE

Coach Matt's Golf Tips!

Two things that really hurt amateur golfers' ability to make more putts are overthinking and not having a consistent routine. Try giving yourself exactly 7 seconds to hit your putt once you've addressed the ball. This easy routine will help stop your brain from overthinking and increase your chances of making more putts.

“Performance process goals involve things like staying in the present moment, accepting whatever happens as it happens, underreacting to everything, being unflappable, and totally trusting in your skills during competition.”
